Ian Irvine is a marine scientist who has developed some of Australia's national guidelines for the protection of the oceanic environment.

He has also produced a series of treatises looking at the issues of environmental terrorism, genetic research and climate change.

Ian's other published works include examinations of the theory of parallel worlds (the Runcible Jones quintet) and convergent evolution (the Three Worlds Cycle).

MR JOHN SAMUEL

COMMUNITY GUEST SPEAKER

John Samuel has been an ardent supporter of Swancon for well over two decades.

He has helped out on several committees, been an active participant both on panels and in the audience, run numerous sessions for beginning players in the Gaming Rooms, helped in numerous auctions (both physically and financially) and has also been awarded a "Mum Fan" for his dedication towards all things Swancon.

He has a personal vendetta against several executives of the Parasol Corporation, which has only been exacerbated by his nomination as Community Guest of Honour for Swancon 2010.

IN CONCLUSION

You have now had the opportunity to read through this prospectus.

Investment in any venture requires careful consideration. Many businesses in the past year have suffered because of poor investment planning.

I am please to announce that the Parasol Corporation of companies have 'bucked' the trend – so to speak.

While our competitors struggle to find even more drastic ways in which to cut costs and reduce overheads, Parasol Corporation has moved progressively forward towards our corporate aims.

Our Aggressive Shareholder Strategy enables us to seek out new investors from a diverse variety of sources. We are so sure of our products and services that we have set up a specialised team dealing with strategic enforcement – making sure that everything Parasol and its affiliates do is to the benefit of Parasol Corporation.

On behalf of the directors of Parasol Corporation, we now invite you to be part of that future.

Sincerely

Todd Rowlands
